1. Roles :

- Landlord: Adds properties, shares the application link, reviews applicants, and accepts or declines them.
- Tenant: fills in a 5-step application. After acceptance, pays rent monthly by card and can split it with up to 3 other people.

2. Main modules:

- Sign-up and login
- Properties and their application links
- The application form (saves after every step)
- The VerifyNow and BankBridge pages
- Webhook receiver for the providers' results
- Jobs that build the screening report
- Landlord credits
- Accept/decline and leases
- Rent payments

3. Journey:

1. The landlord adds a property and gets an application link.
2. The tenant opens the link, signs up, and fills in personal details.
3. The tenant goes to VerifyNow to upload an ID and a selfie. After navigating back to the Identity Verification page, api gets called after every 2 seconds to fetch the updated status (that's when the webhook interaction is happening)
4. The tenant connects a bank on BankBridge. The income result comes back from BankBridge.
5. Step 4 is Household details.
6. Step 5 is the review, with a consent checkbox, and then the tenant submits.
7. Three background jobs run one after another: collect results, build the report (uses 1 landlord credit), notify the landlord.
8. The report is ready, so the landlord accepts. A lease is created, and the property becomes leased.
9. The tenant pays the first month's rent by card, which takes about 1 second.

4. Where the app waits:

1. VerifyNow redirect and webhook:
   - The tenant leaves the site, and step 2 shows "pending", refreshing by itself.
   - The tenant can't move on until the identity is approved.
2. BankBridge redirect and webhook:
   - Step 3 shows a waiting message.
   - If the bank is down or the session expires, the tenant gets a message and can try again.
3. Background jobs:

- The landlord sees "In progress", then "Ready for review", or "Report failed" with a Retry button.
- The tenant only sees "Under review".

4. Card payment:
   - It shows "Processing".
   - The tenant must never be charged twice for the same month.
